

Under The Gavel

Council Notes by ERNIE HALTON

The press of February examinations reduced both the attendance and the number of items of interest at the students' council meeting held last Wednesday evening.

Constitutions

Council voiced approval of three new constitutions, those of the Radio Society, Parliamentary Forum, and the Political Science Club.

An act to place the Radio Society under the Students' Union outlined the purpose and the activities of the ever expanding campus group. The functions of the society are to arrange in co-operation with CKUA and other radio stations student programs of interest to the radio public and the student body. Students interested in obtaining excellent groundwork in the field of radio, as a vocation or hobby, can obtain practical instructions in nearly all fields of radio work. The writing group is responsible for writing up many of the scripts put on by the students. The drama group receives experience in the selection and production of student drama programs, while the student with a yen for announcing is provided with instruction and application over station CKUA.

The Constitution of the Parliamentary Forum Society was officially transferred to the executive of the Students' Council. President Hartling stated that, in order to make the group as non-partisan as possible, the executive heads will consist of senior students in which no member shall be an active member of any political party.

In the conduct of campaigns before a parliamentary election the constitution outlines some very definite rules to prevent "unethical" campaigning. No party shall distribute any pamphlets of a slanderous or improper nature. No literature, which does not originate from the campus press or campus sign painter will be allowed on the campus. Each party must remove all traces of its "advertising" from the campus within 48 hours after election day.

The Constitution of the Political Science Club received approval of council without modification. The purpose of the club will be to create interest in the structure of democratic governments, to acquaint the students with the rules of parliamentary procedure and to provide its members with the political and economic programs of the various political parties. It provides that any organizations that have been "improperly" acting in the interests of a political party shall be liable to suspension.

Institute of World Affairs

In a letter to students' council from President Newton he stated that the President of the Institute of World Affairs has asked for the nomination of one or two candidates to attend the summer session. It will be held at Twin Lakes, Salisbury, Connecticut, July 7 to August 17. They provide scholarships which will reduce the total cost of tuition, board and room from $250.00 to $100.00.

Transportation is not provided and would be "travellers" will have to use their own ingenuity. Student applications should be made to the Students' Union.

Four Hundred At Senior Formal Tuesday Evening

On Tuesday, Feb. 24, some two hundred couples tripped lightly to the music of Bob Lyons and his orchestra, as seniors attended the last class dance of their university careers, the Senior Prom.

The theme appropriately concerned mortar boards with bears gowned as graduating students decorating the balcony railing and a large mortar board hanging from the ceiling in front of the bandstand. During intermission a huge white cake decorated with yellow roses and the names of the patronesses and the senior executive was brought to the head table.

The Senior Class executive includes: President, Gordon Coates; vice-president, Kay Tanner; secretary-treasurer, Keith Henry; class executive, Helen Lilly, Joan Dawson and Gordon Greenwood.

The patronesses for the affair were Mrs. W. G. Hardy, Mrs. H. T. Sparby, Miss Marnie Simpson and Miss Constance McFarlane.

Cumming, Honorary President of the society and member of the Civil Engineering Department, will present the ESS awards.

The executive for the past year has been: President, Bob Spencer; vice-president, Ned Newhall; and secretary-treasurer, Harry Newton.

Judo Artists Donate Expenses To Union Building

Yoshio Katsuta and Yoshio Senda, who gave a demonstration of Judo at the recent Assault-at-Arms tournament here recently, have donated the $80 expenses granted them by the UAB to the Students' Union Building Fund.

Both Mr. Katsuta and Mr. Senda are instructors in the Judo Club at Raymond, Alberta. They stated that the Raymond Judo Club, feeling the building fund to be worth while, were willing to underwrite their expenses for the trip to Edmonton.

The Point System Act, outlining the list of points to council and the various positions under their organization, has been revised and amended by the Student's Union.

A Standing Committee composed of the executive members of the council, was set up to revise the method of awarding points to the various leading members of campus clubs. It was proposed that points be scaled in a proportionate relation to the President of the Student's Union at 70 points, and the Vice-president at 40.

In response to many overtures for increases in point allotments President Hartling said that to raise points would only cheapen the requirements for obtaining the honorary gold and silver rings. To obtain a gold ring a student must have a total of 125 points or more, and for the silver ring 75 points are required.

The following are the list of changes in the Point System Act:

President of the U.A.B. will receive 50 instead of 45 points; Secretary of U.A.B. 40 instead of 45; two U.A.B. members 10-20 instead of 25; Director of Inter-Year Plays 10, formerly none; President of Political Science Club 20, formerly 25; members of Make-up Club executive 10-20, formerly none; Vice-president of Musical Club 10, formerly 15; Director of Ballet Club 35, formerly 20; Program Director of Radio Club 20, formerly none; Tuesday, Friday Editors and Business Manager Gateway 40, formerly 35-50; Sports Editors 20-25, formerly 15-25; Assistant Director of Year Book 40, formerly 45; Editor 35, formerly 40; Business Manager 30, formerly 35; Students Editor 20, formerly 25; Director of Photography 30, formerly 45; Assistant Director 20, formerly 30; Chairman of Official Men's House Committee 20, formerly 25; other member 10, formerly 20; Director of Christmas Fund 10, formerly 15; and Vice-president of Outdoor Club 15, instead of 20.

A new point system which will outline the individual points for the leading positions of all athletic activities is at present being drafted and will go before the students' council at their next meeting.

Bishop Ragg Will Address Canterbury Club

A distinguished visitor to the campus next Sunday, Feb. 29th, will be The Right Rev. H. R. Ragg, M.A., D.D., Anglican Bishop of Calgary. Bishop Ragg comes at the invitation of the Canterbury Club to address a student audience in St. Stephen's College Auditorium on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The address should prove to be of particular interest to students because the topic will be one suggested by students themselves and concerning the fundamentals of religion. Bishop Ragg's interest in young people is widely known, and his visit will be greatly appreciated not only by those who know him already, but by the many who have not had that opportunity before. The invitation is made to all students to attend this address.

Adjudication

Top honors in the Interyear Play Competitions were taken by the Freshman Play, "Family Album," when it received all three of the awards presented. The best actor was Tom Summers, first year Education student. Winner of the best actress award, Jo Pilcher, is a first year Arts and Science student who is majoring in dramatics. "Family Album" was directed by Jo Pilcher and Gay Gordon.

Professor Salter, in his adjudication, said: "The choice of plays in this competition was very poor. The Senior play presented a grave Jewish problem, but it is not the theme of the play alone which makes drama. This play allowed no characterization. The acting in 'Boxcar Heading West' was wonderful, but the story was not equal to the amount of directing and acting put into it."

Professor Salter thought that a wonderful job was done on "Murder Trial," but that the author had made the characters very inconsistent. "The only play that had any plot or actual characterization was the Freshman play, 'Family Album.' Professor Slater said that it was rather difficult at

Second Ballet March 5 and 6, Convocation Hall

Under the direction of Miss Stella Holosko of the Physical Education Department, the University Ballet Club will present its second annual concert in Convocation Hall on Friday and Saturday, March 5 and 6. Due to numerous requests, there will be three performances this year, Friday and Saturday nights at 8:15 and a matinee Saturday afternoon at 2:15.

Miss Holosko has announced that the performance this year will be more lengthy than previously, as two ballets are to be presented, Glazounoff's "Les Saisons" and Chopin's famous "white ballet," "Les Sylphides."

"Les Saisons" is a colorful rustic ballet the music of which has become a concert suite, and was first performed in St. Petersburg in 1900. It consists of one act with four scenes, each scene representing a season of the year: Winter, Spring, Summer and Autumn. Glazounoff drew widely from varied sources for his programmatic music, and is the composer of two other ballets which appeared about the same time as The Seasons.

"Les Sylphides" has no plot, but is a suite of dances often referred to as a "romantic reverie."

The costumes for "Les Saisons" have been designed by Eiko Iwashita, talented first year House Ecce, and Mrs. H. Schwarz has designed and made the costumes for the Chopin composition. The scenery, which is original, is under the direction of Marcel Asquin and Bob Willis. The choreography is by Stella Holosko.

One of the highlights of the performance is said to be a duet by Peggy Davies and Grant Strate in the Spring number of Glazounoff's work. Soloists will be Beryl Bisset, Daurel Mills, Peggy Davies and Carol Barnes, with Pat Scott and Barbara Blackett. Grant Strate and Bob George with Marcel Asquin and Art Tobin will be the male soloists.

The Ballet Club, which gave a performance for the first time last year when they presented Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker Suite" now has a membership of over fifty, and is the first club of its kind in Canada. The majority of the members have had no previous training in ballet work, and Miss Holosko stated that, "It is the enthusiasm of the members which has carried the club."

This is the first time that a classical ballet has been presented at the University, and the members have been at work since last September with two rehearsals a week plus numerous extra practices.

The executive of the club includes: Mrs. R. Hughes, honorary president; Bill George, president; Cecile Eckenfelder, secretary; Marcel Asquin, treasurer and business manager.

DVA Pay Boost

An announcement from Ottawa granting an additional $10 monthly to single student veterans with dependent mothers is expected to be forthcoming shortly.

It was announced Feb. 16 by Prime Minister King that increases were being granted to married student veterans in the form of a raise from $80 to $94 a month, with increases to $18, $14, $12 and $10 for the first, second, third, fourth and subsequent children.

... An Interview

first to choose the best actor. "Jack Storey did a wonderful job in 'Boxcar,' but I had the impression that he would have been unable to act a part similar to that of Jasper in 'Family Album.' Tom Summers, while the less experienced of the two, displayed greater versatility. His tone, interpretation and presentation were remarkable."

"Jo Pilcher did an outstanding portrayal of Lavinia in the Frosh play, and was the logical choice for the best actress award."

The popular vote for both nights ranked "Family Album" as the best play, closely followed by "Murder Trial"; best actress Jo Pilcher; and best actor Jack Storey, with Tom Summers taking second place.

At a party after the productions, it was announced by Jean Ferry, president of the Drama Society, that the three-act play for 1948-49 will be cast this spring, and rehearsals will commence immediately when Varsity begins in the fall. Professor Orchard said that he felt that Convocation Hall was no longer adequate for the type of production which the Drama Club wished to produce next year.

A clean sweep was made by the Freshman Class Thursday when they received all three awards in the Interyear Play Competitions. Family Album, the choice of the Frosh Class, received the shield for the best play, and Jo Pilcher (Lavinia) and Tom Summers (Jasper) were awarded the shields for the best actress and actor.

The directors of this sparkling satire did a good piece of work. The stage set, sound, and costumes were very authentic.

This play afforded a wonderful opportunity to the actors for good characterization, and the members of the cast used this to best advantage. Lavinia was a powerful character in the play, and she dominated the stage at all times. Her transition from a dutiful daughter bemoaning the recent death of her father, to an outraged woman who has been cheated out of any happiness she might have had because of the selfishness of a grasping father was a wonderful piece of acting.

Tom Summers, as Jasper, was also very good. His voice production is remarkable, and he employed it at all times to put across the character he was portraying.

Mary Lou Lister, as Emily, and Lois Grant, as Jane, did a fine job of supporting roles in the play. Ernie Carter, playing the role of Richard Featherways, the black sheep of the family, was adequate, although there were times when one felt that his character was perhaps far better than his father believed. Gay Gordon, playing the role of the old butler, Burrows, although he was not on the stage as much as the other members of the cast, made his presence felt throughout the entire play. He gave an authentic characterization of an old butler and friend of the family.

There were several cases in the play where the masking was bad, but on the whole the production was by far the best of the evening.

Murder Trial, presented by the Sophomore Class, was a play of a rather unusual type. The setting was most unique; the judge's chair, the statue of justice with her scales, balancing right and wrong in the trial of Dolores Faith Smith, added to the unusualness of the play. There was excellent co-ordination between the actors of the play; for long periods it was necessary for the persons in the courtroom to remain perfectly quiet while the scene switched to the reporters on the sidelines, each presenting a different side of the character of the defendant in the trial.

Bob Willis and Seymour Adleman, director and assistant director of the play, deserve a great deal of credit for the production which was presented on the stage of Con Hall. The choice of play, however, was poor. There was no consistency in the characters as the author portrayed them. It is rather incongruous for the judge to crack ponderous jokes in the courtroom, and then to condemn society for its treatment of the two sides of Smith's character, Dolores and Faith.

Edward W. Kemp gave a very good performance as the Judge. The performances of Audrey Weldon, Margie Gans and Claire Medd as Dolores, Faith and Smith were all the characters called for. The First Reporter, played by A. Washburn Holmes, was excellent. Whenever he took over the spot, he dominated the action completely.

The Junior play, Boxcar Heading West, was directed by Don Duff. The play was a poor choice, for there is no actual plot to it. The acting in the play was of the best. All during the performance the attention of the audience was focused on Pete, portrayed by Jack Storey. The acting of the supporting members of the cast was on a high level of excellence.

There was little point to the story

Music Club To Present Final Concert

A program of French music will be presented by four artists at the University Music Club concert in Convocation Hall, Sunday, Feb. 29, at 9 p.m. This will be the last concert for the year.

Three of the artists, Eser Lipsett, Alan Boomer and Bob Hoare, are students of the University. The other participant, Madge Smith, while not registered in a degree course at Varsity, is taking several music courses here this year.

Eser Lipsett, flutist, is well known at Varsity because of her participation in musical functions on the campus.

Alan Boomer, although not a native Edmontonian, has received acclaim in the city's musical circles for his performances in both local and provincial festivals.

Bob Hoare, Honors Physics student at the University, will play several organ selections.

Madge Smith, Edmonton soprano, will sing a group of numbers of varied technical quality.

of Boxcar. If the characters of the play had been the unfortunate victims of a cruel society, some pity could have been felt for them. They were nothing but undesirable tenants of a low society, and the only one whose condition was justified was Rube, who throughout the play did nothing but remain in the shadows looking as insignificant as possible.

The Senior Class presented the ill-chosen play, Floating Homeland. This play deals with a pertinent world problem, but the way in which the playwright handled it has reduced it to nothing but mediocre melodrama. There is no characterization of the people who should dominate the action of the play. The words and action of one character could be placed in the mouth of another character without changing any of this character's qualities. The one strong role in the play was that of Anna. She is the controlling force of the play, but the acting of Beth Edwards fell far short of fulfilling this end. The strongest character in the production was Samuel, played by Gordon Burton. Even when Samuel was sleeping he managed to retain his complete character.

The main criticism of the Interyears was not the acting or presentation, but the choice of the plays. It is not necessary for a great tragedy to be presented to win the award for the best play; the Frosh-proved that. Nor is it necessary for those who wish to be chosen as best actor or actress to play some tense, highly dramatic role to receive commendation for their acting ability; the Frosh proved that, too. What the judge looks for and what the audience wants is a play which will provide them with a certain amount of enjoyment. If the character lives or dies, its a despicable cad or a charming innocent is not important. But whether that character could actually live and think the action called for in the play is important.—I.M.B.

Students' Union Elections

It is some time since Students' Union officials have been elected on good looks and a high personality quotient. Students' Union business today is Big Business. This year Council handled a budget of over $65,000.00, an amount that many high-salaried business men never handle in the course of a single year. Furthermore, this figure does not include the $15,000.00 apportioned to student athletics under the U.A.B.

It is obvious, therefore, that our choice of officials in the coming elections is of prime importance. Serious consideration must be given to the election of next year's representatives. Aside from the ability to handle the expenditures involved in student government, there are a number of other problems, arising from this year's activities, on which the students should expect some expression of opinion from the candidates, especially the presidential candidates, prior to elections.

First and foremost is the prosecution of plans for erecting and furnishing the Students' Union Building. A tentative program has been sketched out for an appeal to the province for funds to furnish the building.

Another matter which is going to come before next year's Council is the resolution of the Yearbook's difficulties. The recent financial crisis in the Evergreen and Gold will not bear repetition. A committee has thoroughly investigated the problem this year and has left certain proposals and alternatives up to the incoming council. A decision must be made.

A third, and possibly more vexatious, problem which candidates might well consider is that of campus politics. The experience of the past session has not been at all happy in this regard. There is a strong feeling among certain campus elements that we were foolish to permit politics on the campus in the first place and that the best thing we can do now is abolish all political activity. It has become obvious that political activity, if it is to be continued, must be given more direction. The many interested students, both pro and con, would most certainly like to hear the attitude of the candidates in this matter.

Next to the president of the Union, the vice-chairman of the U.A.B. is perhaps the most important student official to be elected. The U.A.B. is still, in many respects, in an experimental stage. The experiences of this year's Board have not all been happy ones. In many cases the whole Board has been worked to the point of exhaustion, a situation not calculated to produce the most efficiency. The Board has a surplus of about $6,000.00 from the previous year and may well leave a surplus again. Some decision should be made concerning the disposition of this money, whether it be in investment to draw interest, or in the purchase of capital equipment such as an artificial ice plant.

These problems, and many more, will face the incoming council from the outset of their regime. Candidates in the coming elections owe it to the student body to give some expression of attitude in these matters.

BUTCHER!

Editor, The Gateway.

Dear Sir,

"An editor" my friend Joe once told me, "is like the woman in the maternity hospital, anticipating a glorious consummation. His policy must be to produce life and not to destroy it."

But the editor of The Gateway is a 'butcher'! I wrote the original article: "Over a Cup of Black Coffee" under the emotional stress of a special poetic appeal by him. After burning considerable midnight oil in a seesaw verbal bout with me in my humble, over-heated room, he gave me the pious promise that under no circumstance would he alter the article. I sealed this covenant by four classical words: "Copyright by the author," followed by my flourishing signature in Quink. (Except for the Ottawa Pact signed under the nose of Lord Bennett, I don't think there is any other 'Canadian-Indian' Pact). The world knows what has been done to the child of my imagination (Ref: The Gateway, Feb. 17, '48). The editor in cold blood chopped the prayerfully chosen title of the article, and in all wisdom indulged in the impossible operation of mashing the heterogeneous body of it into a singularly unhappy form!

Here are some of the ill-starred comments on my blasted article—an article which over-night elevated me into the luminous galaxy of 'writers'! . . . "What has the screaming title got to do with the article?"

. . . "Who is interested in the bald biographical sketch full of errors?"

. . . "What is the grand relation between the paragraphs?" . . . A minister across the high level bridge in his religious zeal fumed out: "A communist!" A lady stopped me the other night on the steps of the Cafeteria when the moon was rising, and she thought of nothing but to denounce my article as fifth-rate! A sweet girl who had been praying in deep anguish for my conversion for the last 189 days said with rhythmic spiritual exultation: "Oh Jim! I am so glad, I am so proud, that you have the courage to write things like that . . . I never thought you were such a fine Christian! . . . But I don't like the baiting of poor missionaries in the title of the article . . ."

Dear editor! I beg of you most humbly to share with me the ignominy and glory consequent upon your 'butchering' my article! For the sadistic vandalism which have cowardly perpetrated on my child I expect you will repent and shed at least some crocodile tears! I have already forgiven you seven seventy times from the bottom of my heart!

James Verghese.

Student Christian Movement Announces Summer Camps

The majority of people spend at least 8 hours a day or one-third of their life at some kind of work and yet how many realize that the attitude they have toward their work can turn their life into a pleasurable and meaningful experience or a futile, useless endeavor? Somehow, if we could only fit our work into the pattern of the fundamental things of life, then wouldn't life be really worth living? That is just where Student Work Camps come in.

Work camps are for the benefit of university students everywhere. They were originated after World War I by European students in order to reconstruct war-torn areas. The idea soon spread to the U.S. where it was slightly modified in that, in the States, young people volunteer for a summer's service in an underprivileged community. In Canada, since 1941, there have been over two score work camps. Last summer, students from many countries throughout the world worked side by side at an International Work Camp near Paris, France.

A Work Camp purposes to be a Christian community in the midst of a larger industrial or agricultural community, and to bring the convictions of Christians to bear on the practical economic and social problems of typical Canadian communities. Going to a Work Camp is a valuable experience which somehow straightens out and makes plain a lot of the basic things of life. If you decide to go to a Work Camp this summer, you will be making a triple investment:

- (a) Living in a co-operating group of students.
- (b) Learning the deeper meaning of Christian living in a community.
- (c) Earning your pay envelope.

It is an investment you will never regret.

Any student may go to a Work Camp providing he or she has at least a year of college and is willing to spend the summer in a unique and different way. The quota of students for U. of A. stands at:

Student-in-Industry Camp, Montreal, Quebec	2
Student-in-Industry Camp, Brantford, Ont.	2
Student-in-Agriculture Camp, Dixie, Ont.	6
Student-in-Agriculture Camp, Grand Fork, B.C.	12
Other centres	10

Keep an eye open for the posters which will be appearing in Arts, Med and Ed Bldgs. in a day or two. Remember, you can go to a Student Work Camp if you really want to. To find out some more about them, just visit the S.C.M. Office or phone 31172.

Do you think that a bar for the sale of beer should be included in the proposed Students' Union Building?

Yes 68%

No 32%

The prude is father of the pervert. There is no sensible attitude toward drinking expressed by Victorian Minds and the present attitude of the University toward beer is both childish and outmoded. We must make a move to grow up in this country. As University students we should lead Canada in teaching people to drink properly. European universities have never experienced any difficulty in such a plan.

The beer sales would raise sufficient revenue to pay for Stages 2 and 3 of the building. The pub would also provide a suitable place for social drinking, and replacing the overtown dives, would be beneficial.

This is the opinion of the majority of students who favored the plan.

Those who voted "No" believed that education and drinking should not be mixed. It would degrade the standard of the university, would offend religious elements in the community, and would be a detrimental influence to younger students.

One student was equipped with scriptural authority for his vote. "Wine is a mocker; strong drink is raging; and who-soever is deceived thereby is not wise." Proverbs 20:1.

Manitoba COTC Under Fire; 'Imperialism--Bloody Swords'

Even though our own tribulations bear heavily on us, we still cannot gaze upon the sufferings of a contemporary with indifference. And in the case of the "Manitoban," published by the Students' Union of the University of Manitoba, our sympathy is heartfelt. The editor finds himself in the midst of a battle in which "Imperialist," "War Lord," and "Gullible" are the milder terms used.

Here with we present the facts of the case as gleaned from the Manitoban's correspondence columns.

To the Editor:

I wish to lodge a complaint about one of the more detrimental activities going on at present upon our campus. I refer of course to the C.O.T.C.

This organization is blatantly preparing young gullible youth for war. Adolescents, scarce out of the cradle, are encouraged to learn the art of scientific killing. These persons, while still at an impressionable age, are seduced with visions of $135 a month, nice new soldier suits and the rating of an acting 2nd Lieutenant.

The pulpits and newspapers all over Canada spread the idea of international peace. And what do our universities do? Our "seats of learning" allow such destructive and threatening bodies as the C.O.T.C. to exist and openly invite the citizens of tomorrow to become embryo warlords.

A few years back, our imperialists waved bloody swords. Now they brandish copies of the King's Rules and Canadian Regulations and state their alma mater.

When will the universities take action and ban such an obviously unsocial group as the C.O.T.C.? Our university newspapers publicly publish anti-Communist reports, etc. Yet these other threats to our way of life remain out of the limelight. Let us ostracize them. They are evil.

A.C.T.

We can imagine the Editor's shudders as he opened his mail the next week, and of course there was a reply:

To the Editor:

The scene: The hall of C.O.T.C. headquarters, Broadway.

It is night. Through the windows moonlight illuminates the bulletin board. A notice reads, "How to Kill Scientifically. The C.O.T.C. wants You to be a Menace to Society." Two uniformed figures emerge from the shadows.

1st Officer: Who goes there?

2nd Officer: Harris-Smith.

1st Officer: God, Harris-Smith. You gave me a start.

2nd Officer: Can't be too careful, you know.

1st Officer: Quite. What's the latest?

2nd Officer: Three more.

1st Officer: Gullible?

2nd Officer: Very. Jones is interrogating them now.

1st Officer (hesitantly): Has... he... shown... them?

2nd Officer: King's Rules and Canadian Regulations?

1st Officer (with devotion): Quite.

2nd Officer: ... Quite.

1st Officer: And they...?

2nd Officer: Embryo warlords. Imperialists.

1st Officer: Bloody swords...

2nd Officer: Impressionable adolescents, you know.

1st Officer: Quite. Scarcely out of the cradle.

2nd Officer: Out of the cradle into the grave, eh?

1st Officer: Quite. Haw.

2nd Officer: Haw.

1st Officer: Where now?

2nd Officer: Must be off. Carry on.

1st Officer: Carry on.

The room is silent again. Outside can be heard the rhythmic beat of the changing of the guard.

Wet Canteen For UBC Vets

VANCOUVER (CUP)—Veterans on the campus at UBC have been responsible for many innovations during the past two years. At present they are drawing up plans for another venture with which to astonish their fellow-students. The UBC branch of the Canadian Legion is planning to acquire a nearby tea-room and there establish a wet canteen. The problem of financing and procuring a license to run the taproom are causing some difficulty, though.

At present the Legion has a paid-up membership of 700 out of 2500 active members. They hope this plan will help swell the ranks and make the organization a little more than a bureau to aid needy veterans.

Start Construction On UBC Campus

VANCOUVER (CUP)—UBC's expansion project received new vigor this week when 'dozers and diggers began preparing the ground for a new permanent addition to the campus—the Biological Science and Pharmacy Building. The excavation is beginning despite the lack of a signed contract, but the university officials say negotiations are underway at the Department of Public Works at Victoria.

Estimated cost of the three-storey edifice is $650,000.

A Very Old Friend

Away back even before men were men, Corythosaurus and some of his unpleasant relatives owned and roamed over Alberta. Cory, the duck billed dinosaur pictured above, now reposes in the Geology museum on the third floor of the Arts Building. This specimen was found in the Belly River Formation on the Red Deer River. It is estimated to be 100,000,000 years old.

Corythosaurus

Peace and silence has at present deserted the hall of historical geology, the Invertebrate Palaeontology Museum on the third floor of the Arts Building. From what was once a well-organized, peaceful sanctuary for a curious public seeking to be educated, the Museum has been converted into a laboratory for students seeking to qualify themselves to become experts in the field of Geology.

In the past few years, enrollment in the Geology pattern has increased to about 120, and additional space is required to permit these students to complete their course. Geology 53 and 57 labs are held in the Museum daily, and each week some 70 students apply their time and energy to the need of learning the names, families, and habits of animals which lived on the earth thousands of years ago.

To allow for increased studying space, the Indian and Eskimo relics have been removed from the Museum, and placed in storage. Instead of specimen cases, tables line the centre of the floor, and these are interspersed with blackboards, and a huge relief map of Alberta. Small boxes of specimens are found on the table, and almost every hour of the day some zealous student may be found pouring over their contents.

And over all this confusion the composite mount of a Corythosaurus rises with imposing dignity. The Corythosaurus, or Duck-Billed Dinosaur as it is more commonly known, was one of the most numerous herbivorous animals of the Upper Cretaceous period, some 100,000,000 years ago. These animals fed on vegetation containing much sand, and their teeth were worn away quickly. New series of teeth were continually pushing to the surface of the jaw, and the Corythosaurus had from 1,000 to 1,500 teeth in the magazines of its jaws.

This fossil skeleton was found in the Belly River Formation, Upper Cretaceous, Sand Creek, Red Deer River. This specimen of Corythosaurus is composed of three individuals, which have been assembled as one for exhibition purposes. Only those parts have been added which are necessary to make the animal appear complete to the inexperienced observer.

Corythosaurus is by no means the most complete fossil reptile found in the museum. A skeleton of a bird-footed dinosaur, Troodon validus, also excavated from the Belly River formation, may be found in a case towards the rear of the hall. This reptile was herbivorous and very small, standing only 22 inches high at the hips, and not exceeding a length of 7 feet. It was first named in 1853 when a single tooth was discovered, and it was believed at that time to belong to the extinct lizards. However, in 1921 this specimen, the most complete yet discovered, was unearthed, and showed it to belong to the class of dinosaurian reptiles.

But fossils are not the only things to be found in the museum. Between the thigh and hip bones of several different types of mammoths in one of the side cases may be found a collection of implements used by prehistoric man, and next to this curios from different parts of the world. Squeezed in between a head of Gorgosaurus liberatus, a carnivorous dinosaur, and the skeleton of a soft-shelled turtle, most complete of its kind yet discovered in Canada, is a small case containing a collection of metals, old coins and bills; and against the far wall there stands a rack holding a collection of old firearms.

Little has been done to the museum in the past years because of the great cost in adding specimens to the fossils already there. While some of these fossils have been acquired through excavations right in the province, mounting costs a great deal. Many of the specimens have been brought from other parts of the world: from China, Germany and India. The cost of these specimens and their transportation is high.

Dr. J. A. Allen, Curator of the Museum, Drs. Warren and Rutherford, of the Geology department, and other members of the staff hope that in the future the museum will once more be returned to normal, and that peace will again reign supreme.

Mount Allison University

A CUP Feature

Up on a hill (used mostly for sliding at the present time) in the town of Sackville, stand two impressive buildings—one on each side of the road—each a symbol of what lies beyond them. They are the two residences of Mount Allison University, Trueman House and the University General Residence housing some of the 980 students from every province in Canada, from the United States and the West Indies. Trueman House, only two years old, is the outstanding building, and known as the finest of its kind in the Dominion. The girls, too, live in a residence of repute, for it houses 300 of them under the one roof. All of them eat in the one fine cafeteria which is also shared with the boys.

It is a bit crowded here, now, but plans for reducing the enrollment to its pre-war size and thus raising the standards of college education are going forward. The Veterans have added greatly to the enrollment and two buildings of apartments have recently been erected on the campus for them. A new Rink is still under construction. It will also contain a much needed Common Room and Recreation Rooms. The authorities took pity on the array of forlorn faces looking bleakly at the unfinished task and even though the Rink is still without a roof, the ice-surface has been flooded.

Mount Allison's football team won the McCurdy Cup for the Senior Maritime Championship Title this year, and walked over St. Dunstan's University at P.E.I. to win the New Brunswick-Prince Edward Island Title as well. It is the "Mountie's" proud brag that during the entire season, not once was their line crossed for a touch-down!

Basketball fans will see the Mounties out for the Maritime Intercollegiate Title this year. As a result of last year's showing, the team has signed up for the Dominion Senior Play-offs.

Mount A. can claim fame, not only in Sports, but also through the achievements of her graduates. Many men have gone out from old Mount Allison to play important parts in the shaping of world events. Mr. Justice Ivan C. Rand of the Supreme Court represented Canada in presenting her recommendation for the partition of Palestine. Dr. A. W. Trueman, former head of the English Department here, until recently President of the University of Manitoba, has now returned to the Maritimes as President of the University of New Brunswick. Dr. George W. Patterson has recently been chosen to represent Canada on the United Nations Commission to Korea.

Appoint McGill Law Student Consul General to Panama

MONTREAL (CUP)—A McGill law student has been appointed to the post of Honorary Consul-General in Canada for the Republic of Panama, marking the first time that a student has ever held a responsible consular post.

"I feel that it is a signal honor that I should be the first university student ever to have become the accredited representative of a foreign power," stated the newly-appointed Jose De Nobile. He added that one of his first objectives will be the establishment of a closer relationship between Canadian and Pan-American students through the Council for Inter-American Affairs. As well as being a first year law student at McGill, Senor De Nobile is a professor of Modern Languages at the U. of Montreal, speaking eleven languages with equal facilities. He is also a recognized authority on International Law.

Bears Win In Greats Falls Edged Out By Wyoming Squad

GREAT FALLS, Mont.—The Golden Bears started their international jaunt in fine style with a 66-56 win over Montana School of Education in Billings, Wednesday night. This was their ninth straight win this season in as many starts.

The two remaining games in this exhibition series will be played in Billings against the Eastern Montana Normal School Yellow Jackets. The Green and Gold squad disposed of the Normalites quite handily in previous games here, with scores of 67-56 and 90-54. It will probably not be so easy this time, as the Jackets will be playing on their home floor, which is much smaller. Furthermore, several of the best Montana players were unable to make the trip to Edmonton. They are expected to make things tough for the Bruins tonight and tomorrow night.

MacRAE . . .

. . . SPARKS BEARS

POWELL, Wyo. — Last night the Green and Gold suffered their first setback of the year as they bowed to a strong Northwest College squad, 53-50. The game, on the latter's home floor, was pretty fast, but the Bears trailed badly. The Albertans were tired from their recent travels, while the home team were in good shape.

In typical Golden Bear style they engaged in a last-minute scoring spree, which brought them within three points of a win over their toughest opposition to date. Jim MacRae was a tower of strength for the Bears, sparking their late offensive. No individual scores are available yet, but it is believed that MacRae was high scorer.

With Coach Maury Van Vliet are Bob Strother, Bill Rich, Dunc Stockwell, Jim MacRae, Boyd Oberhoffner, Charlie Chinneck, Bill Price, Gord McCormack, Evan Erickson, Gord McLachlan, and Manager Alex Andrekson.

Albertans To Hub City For Annual Co-eds' Weekend

Last night a contingent of femmes from the Alma Mater boarded the 10:20 for Saskatoon, where they will participate in intervarsity basketball, curling, and fencing. This is the first Girls' Weekend, scheduled to come off annually from now on.

Among the entourage are Misses Tessa Johnson and Pat Austin of the Physical Education Department, and Olga Barillo, Director of Intersarsity Women's Athletics, and Jean McLaws Secretary of the UAB.

Basketball players in the group include Ev Silk, Helen Eckert, Doris Nufer, Mary Millar, Kay Tanner, Corinne McLeod, Jeanne Gauld, Marie Schwarz, Joan Arnold, and Bernice Moore. The fencers are represented by Mary Field and Jody Day.

The rock-and-broom experts from Alberta U. are headed by Joan Morris, with Betty Caldwell, Helen McWilliams and Betty Murray completing the quartet. Last year Mrs. Cunningham's Green and Gold rink won the Women's Brier easily, defeating Manitoba and Saskatchewan by a fair margin.

The Pandas have their eyes on the Cecil Race Trophy, which presently resides in Saskatoon. Last year the Huskiettes trimmed both Pandas and Bisonettes to snag the intersarsity crown here. A considerably stronger Alberta squad has a good chance of bringing home the bacon.

Last year the Saskatchewan fencers displayed superior power, but Jody Day and Mary Field, under the guidance of tall Stan Mealing, look good enough to give the Easterners a "touche" for their money.

The Albertans are expected back early Monday.

JUNE FRASER and NORM PRESTON came out on the long end of a 6-15, 15-7, 15-11 match with Stu McIntosh and Eleanor MacDonald, to win the 1948 mixed doubles crown. This gives them the Birks Trophy, a handsome piece of hardware awarded for the first time this year.

Ags Defeat Arts 4-3 In 'Fac Puck Series

Agros came blazing back in the stretch at the Varsity Rink Tuesday night to edge Arts of A Section in the VHL by 4-3. Walter Hughes tipped the rubber past Don Whelan in the Arts cage 18 seconds before the end of the third stanza to give Harry Hobbs' Art squad their first loss of the current campaign.

Wednesday night Geology shaved an even closer 4-3 victory than Agros had the night before. With three seconds to play, Bill Jubb scored to upset the section-leading Dents, and improve the Geology chances of reaching a playoff berth. In this particular contest the Geologists were smartly coached by Maestro Nick Taylor, who had them back-checking like fiends.

And when the high scoring Fred Wihak-Bruce Mackenzie-Mel Bauman line came pouring in, the Geology defense broke up wave upon wave of attacks. Barry Mills in the Geology goal served up a spectacular performance.

Ex-Bears Assist Law

Elsewhere during the week Arts won by default from Law to maintain the lead in Section A. This game was played with Law employing ex-Golden Bears Bob Colborne, Bill McQuay, and Wingy Dockery. In the final result Arts trimmed the Law-Golden Bears 9-7.

Engineers 1 blanked Sovereign's Premedents 10-0 and Education kept their playoff hopes glimmering in B Section with a 5-3 triumph over Engineers 2 last evening.

As the circuit stands at the moment, Arts are assured of one playoff spot in A Section while Dents are home-free in B Section. Otherwise the heat is still on.

Engineers vs. Agros

The second A Section finalist will be decided tomorrow afternoon when Engineers 1 and Agros wind up a two-game series. These teams have one full game to finish and twenty minutes to play of a postponed game. Engineers lead the postponed fixture 1-0.

To grab the spot, Engineers must secure a win and a draw since they are trailing the farmers by one point in the present standings. A single victory will give Ags the position.

And it's just as tight in B Section where Geology and Education are waging a battle for second rung. Geology, with two games to play, have 10 points, while Jack Perry's Education gang have 11 points and one game to play. That single Education contest is against Geology tomorrow afternoon—and it shapes up as a natural, since it will determine the team to advance to the sectional playoff.

Geology can make things easier for themselves with a triumph over the Meds this p.m.

League playoffs commence Monday afternoon at 4:00 p.m. when the A Section finalists will begin a best-of-three series. Monday night at 7:00 the two leading teams in B Section will begin a similar series. Second game of the A Section round is slated for Tuesday at 4:00 and the second B Section contest gets under way Wednesday night at 7:00.

Last night President Dick Beddoes announced that a late shipment of senior sticks have been made available for the playoffs. And all the prexy was worried about this morning was whether or no the weather would remain frigid for one week or thereabouts.

U. Curlers Defend Brier At Winnipeg

By Dick Beddoes

Western intercollegiate curling action will sweep across greater Winnipeg this weekend when the universities of Saskatchewan, Alberta and Manitoba convene for their second annual "brier." Two men's rinks from each province will curl for the honors won last year in Saskatoon by the Alberta besom an' stane artists.

Arts 1 Capture Interfac Crown

Tuesday night the Arts 1 hoopsters clinched their grip on the Interfac basketball crown by trimming Arts 2 to the tune of 46-32. In the previous game on Thursday night, the champs walloped their fellow Artsmen 38-17. This gave them a two-game total of 84 to 39.

In the semi-final contests, Arts 2 dropped their first game to Engineers 2, 34-33. They came back to win the second round 41-19. Arts 2 also lost their first game, Meds downing them 34-27. The "culture vultures" won the series on total points with a 25-15 win.

The first game of the finals saw Johnny Higgins demonstrating the old eagle eye to run up 18 points, while Bud Milner garnered 10 for the winners. Top man for Arts 2 was Clark Leavitt with 7. Tall Karl Erdman racked up 6.

In the final contest Arts 1 were never pressed, as they led 12-2, 24-8 and 34-20 at the quarters. Again Higgins and Milner shone as they paced the winners with 14 and 12 respectively. George Villett counted 8 and Karl Erdman 7 for Arts 2. The game was fairly fast and clean, there being only eight fouls called.

First Game

ARTS 1—Harvey 6, Loughed 2, Milner 10, Armstrong, Higgins 18, Covey 2, Hanbo. Total 38, 14.
ARTS 2—McDermott 2, Leavitt 7, Peterson, Wells, Erdman 6, Villett 2, Okasaki. Total 17.

ARE YOU A FILCHER?

If you have filched your Dad's Arrow shirts and ties for years, here's how to make it up to him . . .

Buy him an Arrow ensemble consisting of shirt, (with the perfect-fitting Arrow collar), tie (made for neatest knotting), and handkerchief (for pleasing punctuation).

Matter of fact, better buy a set for yourself, too, so you won't be tempted to filch Dad's!
